Octo pocket spring system is the reflection of ideal comfort for supporting different body types and sleep positions and providing custom comfort.

Graduated spring technology helps respond with greater support as weight and pressure increase.

The wider top and bottom parts of the spring respond to your body with softness for superior comfort. The narrower middle part of the spring respond with firm support as necessary.

During a good night's sleep, the spring system supports your body so that natural movement all through sleep helps relax your muscles.
